Rolling Hills Transit currently owns fourteen vehicles with a vehicle class of 400. Ten of these vehicles are in-service, three are spare vehicles and one (in marginal condition) is in the process of being disposed. All the vehicles have at least an adequate condition except for two vehicles in marginal condition.

Rolling Hills Transit uses two storage facilities owned by Semcac, one in Rushford and one in Kasson. The Kasson garage can hold six vehicles and has space for administration. The Rushford garage has space for two vehicles.

Rolling Hills Transit has seventeen full-time and ten part-time employees, including drivers, administrative staff, and management.
Ridership

In 2018, Rolling Hills Transit provided 53,787 passenger trips, a decline of 8.6 percent from the previous year, though still above the 2015 low of 51,480 trips. Productivity also declined slightly, from an average of 2.96 passengers per hour to 2.76. Total annual revenue hours remained steady at approximately 19,500, while annual revenue miles declined.

In 2017, nearly 50 percent of Rolling Hills Transit trips were taken by children under 5 years of age, likely a result of the agency’s extensive service to Head Start preschool locations, while another 24 percent of trips were taken by students between the ages of 5 and 17. Meanwhile, only 13 percent of trips were made by elderly passengers (60 years and older), while 5,908 trips (10 percent) were taken by riders with a disability.

Budget

The largest investment of the agency is in its personnel, followed by administrative costs and vehicles. A large portion of the operating funding comes through state and federal grants, while farebox revenue covers 11 percent and contract services five percent. Rolling Hills had an operating deficit of $99,438 in 2018.

Rolling Hills Transit’s current budget is $1.3 million. They will need to increase to $2.3 million by 2025 to meet the identified capital and operating needs.
